Oakwood Sun. alcohol sales amendment expected to be ready Dec. 12

OAKWOOD - The Oakwood City Council expects to receive a code amendment next month as the next step toward allowing the retail sale of alcoholic beverages in the city on Sundays.

Voters approved the sales during a referendum on the matter a week ago.

The city council was told Monday night it will be presented with the amended ordinance at its Dec. 12 meeting.

Also Monday night, the council authorized Mayor Lamar Scroggs to sign an intergovernmental agreement with Hall County for Oakwood to dispose of its trash and garbage at the county landfill. For the past three years, Oakwood has disposed of this waste at a private transfer station.

Council also held First Reading on four annexations along Falcon Parkway (for commercial development) and one annexation in Tanners Creek Business Park for the new Veterans Administration Office which will be re-located from Mundy Mill Road.

The council adopted the FY 2012 budget, with no increase in the property tax rate for 12th year in a row, and adopted the city's FY 2012 Fee Schedule, with no change from 2011.
